THE GUIDE: DECOR
SHOPPING IN DENVER

9. DESIGN WRIGHT STUDIOS

NEIGHBORHOOD: RINO

Opened in RiNo in September 2017 by Mary Wright, Design Wright Studios' showroom is an architecture enthusiast's dream: a former refrigeration unit for the Gold Star Sausage Company, with 22-foot-high ceilings and oversized windows. It's also a go-to for Denverites looking for furnishings from today's boldface design names (Kelly Wearstler) and classic manufacturers (Stanley Furniture). "We love what we do and make it fun for everyone who walks in the door," says Wright, noting that they offer beer on tap and have a fridge stocked with wine and champagne. Bonus: After you've picked out your gorgeous new HC28 armchair, explore the lovely inventory at Artisan Rug Gallery, the other stellar store that shares the space.

What's New: Ralph Lauren fans devastated by the closing of the brand's Cherry Creek Shopping Center location can breathe a sigh of relief: Ralph Lauren Home is now available in Denver again, right here.
